

Thence Douglas Robinson and other leaders of the party opposed to the nomination were present but had not a word to say. Thus Sulzer became the nominee in a three-cornered fight in a district where, it is said, the Sulzer sentiment is stronger than anywhere else in the city.

They regarded as an extremely unwise move. Max Steindler, district head of the organization, announced early in the day that "nothing short of murder" could prevent the programme going through.

There was an immense crowd in the hall and a crowd on the street when the meeting of the leaders was called to order. Otto Lorenz in a laudatory speech placed Sulzer's name before the committee. Immediately there was a

Judge McCall Angry; Gives Lie to Hennessy

There was a look of anger in the eyes of Judge McCall today when he read the statement made last night by John A. Hennessy, wherein the Sulzer investigator said the conference at Murphy's house on April 12 lasted four hours, or until a late hour in the morning.

"It's an infamous lie!" said the Judge, as his face flushed with anger. "That conference lasted just about twenty minutes, and Gov. Sulzer was doing the talking most of the time."

"Mr. Hennessy said he would like to have you state what happened there," said the interviewer.

"Well, I'll tell you what happened," said the Judge. "We went from the Waldorf to Murphy's house to talk over Sulzer's Reform bill and his new Hallett bill. Murphy asked the Governor how a man who couldn't read or write could read his bill. And Sulzer attempted to explain this to Murphy—in fact, he gave me the impression he knew but little about his own measure and talked about punching holes through tissue paper, or something like that."

"That is all that took place in Murphy's house that night and that is all that happened, and we weren't there more than twenty minutes."

DENIES TAKING PART IN TALK WITH MURPHY.

"What did Hennessy mean when he said that Sulzer went back the next day brokehearted, and what inspired the statement from Mrs. Sulzer the next day that she wished her husband was not Governor?" was asked.

"You'll have to ask Charles Frohman or some theatrical man who has a better idea as to how to get dramatic effects and can stage those things better than I can," replied the Judge. "But for Hennessy to say that we were there for four hours is an absolute lie! In fact I took no part in it, as most of the talking was done by Sulzer and Murphy."

Judge McCall was asked about Hennessy's charge that William Sulzer was importuned by Judge McCall to appoint George M. Palmer of Schenectady Chairman of the up-State Public Service Commission.

"That is another lie," said the Judge. "I never talked to this chap Hennessy about anything the Governor should do or should not do. I never talked to the Governor in Hennessy's presence about appointments or anything else connected with the Governor's duties."

"To the best of my recollection, I never met Hennessy more than three times in my life. I talked with him once in the presence of the Governor and Mr. Sulzer's secretary, Mr. Platt. On another occasion Hennessy came here into the Public Service Commission rooms, but I do not recall his mission. It had nothing to do with the duties of Gov. Sulzer."

"One day I was in Albany in the Government's office when Hennessy came in and said that newspaper men were outside and were waiting for him. He said that he did not speak to him on that occasion."

CAREER OF M'LEAN, WHO IS NOW CALLED MURPHY'S BAGMAN.

Arthur A. McLean, called by John A. Hennessy the bagman for Chief Murphy, is a merchant of Newburg and has been for a great many years the Democratic State Committeeman from Orange County. Since Charles F. Murphy got control of the State Democratic machine, Mr. McLean has been treasurer of the State Democratic Committee.

In his political activities Mr. McLean has never overlooked his opportunities. The need of New York for a more adequate water supply from the vicinity of Mr. McLean's home county furnished him with chances to participate in contracts and other perquisites. He was one of the condemnation commissioners for the Ashokan Water Supply System at $50 a day, and in many ways has found his Tammany associates profitable.

MEN IN CONGRESS ENCOURAGE SULZER.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Sulzer is indeed unfortunate to be deprived of an opportunity to finish a clean anti-graft administration, said Representative Cooper of Wisconsin today. "Notwithstanding evidence regarding his campaign contributions, his term in office was clean and he was undermining graft. He should have remained in office."

"No matter what Sulzer has done," said Senator Kenyon of Iowa, "he will redeem himself if he will go in and clean up that gang in New York. I do not know how long this country or New York is going to stand for Tammany. The man who will lead the fight that wipes out the organization will be doing a great public work and deserves a national bouquet."

"Sulzer, I am afraid, is guilty," said Senator Norris of Nebraska, "but he was persecuted by men more guilty than he."

Sulzer Accepted Invitation to Speak in Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 21.—William Sulzer has accepted an invitation to speak in Kansas City. A message from him received here today by J. L. Woods Merrill reads:

"I will speak in Convention Hall on my impeachment and expose corruption and graft in State of New York. Will advise date later."

Parker was in the employ of the Consolidated only a week. He was a son of James E. Parker of Harrington, Me., and for three years before his graduation from the University of Maine he was a star player on the football team.

The Justice held that a Congressman was an officer of the United States within the purview of the statutes forbidding impersonation. Lamar will appear and furnish bond.

GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK

MURPHY SAYS:

When the series of Sulzer statements is complete I shall give the press my answer.

SULZER SAYS:

Judge McCall usually spoke of Murphy as "The Chief," and would say to me that "The Chief" wished such and such a thing done. Murphy offered me money to pay my debts.

CHARLES F. MURPHY

HENNESSY SAYS:

Arthur A. McLean was Murphy's bagman when barge canal contractors were sandbagged. He got $50,000 from two contractors. Sulzer was removed because he went into the canal graft.

McCALL SAYS:

I never referred to Murphy as "The Chief." I never received so much as an intimation from Mr. Murphy that he desired me to call on Gov. Sulzer.

GLYNN HINDERED BY LEGISLATORS WHO STAY AWAY

Quorum Not Expected To-Morrow Night, and New Governor's Hands Are Tied.

EDWARD E. McCALL

BAGMAN OF CHIEF MURPHY POINTED OUT BY HENNESSY

Sulzer Investigator Mentions Sums Ranging From $5,000 to $25,000 Collected by Arthur A. McLean for Organization.

In a speech last night describing the weird night visit of McCall and Sulzer to Boss Murphy's home, John A. Hennessy said:

"I said to the Governor when he told me about it: 'What did McCall say?' He answered: 'I cannot tell you. He is my friend.' The Governor cannot tell. Very well, let McCall tell you. McCall begged Sulzer to yield to some of the wishes of Murphy and told him he ought to appoint George M. Palmer to the Public Service Commission."

"How do I know this? Sulzer told me first and McCall told me second. If McCall will relieve me of the pledge of confidence I will explain just what he said. I can tell you now that he told me that Sulzer had promised to appoint Palmer some time before this and that he should keep the promise."

Mr. Hennessy, who was the deposed Governor's chief investigator, spoke to 2,500 men and women in Cooper Union.

Mr. Hennessy had a sympathetic audience, a good voice and a pleasant delivery as he told Sulzer's story. His burst, as McCall was effective and his challenge to the Tammany candidate was vigorously cheered.

A new name was brought into the case by Hennessy—that of William E. Paine, President of the Yellow Pine Company of No. 18 Beaver street, a director of the American Machine Company and of the Equitable Life Assurance Society.

Paine, he declared, was the bearer of the message from Fourteenth street to Albany:

"Reading a letter from Louis Stewart of No. 5 West Thirty-fourth street and another from Stephen Baker, President of the Bank of the Manhattan Company, urging the appointment of Gaffney, he turned on Arthur A. McLean of Newburgh, Treasurer of the Democratic State Committee."

"Gaffney or war?"

TORPEDO MENACE TO LINERS

Fired by Chinese Cruiser and Lost in Delaware River.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21.—With several screws dragging the bottom of the Delaware River for what is thought to be a loaded torpedo, large shipping vessels were picking their way down the busy channel today in a blind effort to avoid the dangerous explosive, snapping interests were wrought up today when they learned the new Chinese cruiser Fei-hung on her trial trip fired a torpedo up the Delaware River.

According to the ship building officials, the torpedo is now resting at the bottom within a few feet of the draught of ocean liners which dock here. It is feared that the explosive may be weighed with a "war head," and a search has been started to find the shell.

LOREE'S WEDDING WAITS.

Magnate's Son Not to Marry Maryland Girl Nov. 5 as Planned.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 21.—That the wedding of Miss Catherine Agnes Roberts Thomas to James Taber Loree, of New York, will not take place Nov. 5 became known in announcements that the invitations had been recalled. It was stated by Judge and Mrs. William Henry Thomas of Westminster, Md., the bride's parents, that the wedding had been postponed.

Mr. Loree is a son of L. F. Loree, formerly president of the Baltimore and Ohio, now with the Erie. Judge Thomas is a member of the Maryland Court of Appeals. No reason is assigned for postponing the marriage.

MRS. EATON SMILES AS QUEER DOINGS AT HOME ARE TOLD

Witness Relates How She Showed Mixture Concocted by Admiral for Daughter.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Oct. 21.—Conditions in the household of Rear-Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton prior to his death by poison last March were described by neighbors at the trial of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, the widow, to-day.

Mrs. Charles M. Hill testified to conversations with Mrs. Eaton, in which the defendant had said that the Admiral was deranged and that she feared he would poison her mother. The Eatons always appeared friendly to each other, Mrs. Hill said when cross-examined.

Mrs. William Magoun told the court of a strange preparation which Mrs. Eaton said the Admiral had mixed for June, her daughter by a former marriage. The mixture, according to the witness's remembrance of what Mrs. Eaton had told her, contained soap, vinegar and either pepper or salt. This testimony caused Mrs. Eaton to smile.

Mrs. Magoun said she never saw any evidence of insanity in the Admiral.

EATON PLANNED PANAMA TRIP MONTH BEFORE DEATH.

A Rockland tradesman, Charles E. Rice, testified to Mrs. Eaton's frequent airing of family troubles.

Mrs. Abbie C. Cottrell of Hingham, who kept house for the Eatons for a time when Mrs. Eaton was not living with her husband, testified that she had never seen any signs of liquor on the Admiral, nor any indication that he was of unsound mind.

A month before his death Admiral Eaton was planning to take Mrs. Eaton with him on a trip to Panama, according to Samuel W. Baker, a Rockland optician. Baker testified that in February last the Admiral told him that, acting under commission from President Grant, he had made a survey for a canal route across the Isthmus in 1871, and that he looked forward with pleasure to the trip that he and Mrs. Eaton were to take to see the completed cut.

Mrs. Eaton asked Baker to assist her in having the Admiral committed to an insane asylum. She complained that her husband was dabbling in poisons and drugs and she feared he would cause the death of members of the household.

PUT TALCUM ON STAIRS TO TRAIL ADMIRAL.

Frank L. Booth of Rockland said that Mrs. Eaton had told him her husband was trying to poison her, and that although she sprinkled talcum on the stairs she was unable to track him to the place where he concealed his drugs.

Mrs. Grace E. Booth and Mrs. Maud Powers, twin sisters employed in a Rockland grocery, testified that Admiral Eaton always came gently, never angrily, to the grocery. It had been brought out in the trial that Mrs. Eaton had named her husband's alleged attempts to the sisters.

Frank S. Alger, a newspaper man of Rockland, told of conversations with Admiral and Mrs. Eaton. The Admiral said he objected to having June in the household because of a story she had circulated about him. Mrs. Eaton complained of her fears that her husband would poison her.

Alger said he did not consider Admiral Eaton insane, but thought he showed certain peculiarities of speech and manner, due perhaps to long service in the navy.
